

I would like to voice my opposition to expanded BPL. Using my AM Car radio, and my mobile Amateur Radio rigs, I have developed an understanding of where interference will happen on certain frequencies because of the horrible RF state of power lines in my area. BPL, I fear, will create more permanent problems for me as a licenced amateur operator, and daily AM/MW band listener. My town, and the rural area around it, is full of utility poles with electrical junctions and patches that resonate as mini-antennae. No on BPL.
